HOW TO STUDY THIS MODULE

This is the most immediately employable thing you will make in this programme.

It is eight templates. They are yours, you will carry them from house to house for the rest of your career, and they will get better every year.

And it is a work sample. An agency that sees this understands, in ninety seconds, that you are not a beginner.

CHAPTER I

What you are producing

Eight instruments, not an essay

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

Understand what the toolkit is for.

The toolkit is the set of documents you walk into a household with on day one. Not filled in: blank, and ready.

It is what allows you to be operational in a strange house in a week rather than in three months. And it is the thing that, in an interview, ends the conversation about whether you know what you are doing.

CHAPTER II

The eight instruments

One page each, no more

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

Build each one.

Instrument	What it does
1 · The brief sheet	The six questions, as a form. Who, what, when, where, how much, who else knows. Plus the confirmation message, pre-written, that you send within the hour.
2 · The travel file	Your itinerary format. Legs, leave times, ground, arrival standard, contacts by name at both ends of every seam, contingencies, and the one-page pocket version.
3 · The vendor card	One card per supplier. Name, category, tier, what they are excellent at, what they are not, price, insurance status, who introduced them, the date you last used them, and one line on how they behaved when something went wrong.
4 · The expense log	Date, category, amount, purpose, receipt held yes or no. And the monthly reconciliation format that you deliver on the second of every month without being asked.
5 · The maintenance calendar	Weekly, monthly, quarterly, annual. Each item with an owner and a date. Blank, and ready for any house.
6 · The household manual	The contents page, at least, and the structure. The house, the people, the standards, the rhythms, the emergencies. This is the one that takes a year to fill and ten minutes to structure.
7 · The pre-mortem checklist	Your questions. Single points of failure, unchecked assumptions, seams. Five to eight lines.
8 · The escalation card	The three questions, in order. The four-sentence format. And, written out in full, the sentences you will say when you have made a mistake. Written now, calmly, so that you are not composing them on the worst morning of your year.

CHAPTER III

What makes a template usable

And what makes one decorative

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

Build for a tired person, in a strange house, at seven in the morning.

- One page. Anything longer will not be used, and a template that is not used is worse than no template, because it gave you the feeling of being prepared.
- Fields, not prose. If your template contains paragraphs, it is an essay wearing a costume.
- No branding, no design, no colour. It is a working document. If you have spent an evening on the typography, you have spent an evening avoiding the work.
- Printable. The day the systems fail is the day you need the file, and it will be the day the systems fail.
- Filled in once, as a test, with a real example. A template you have never used is a guess about your own future behaviour.

CHAPTER IV

How it will be judged

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

Understand the standard.

What I am looking forWhat that means

Usability	Could you find the right line in fifteen seconds, in a strange house, tired? That is the only real test.
The vendor card	I will look here first. If it does not have a tier and a line about how they behaved when something went wrong, you have built an address book and called it a black book.
The expense log	I will look here second. If the reconciliation is not scheduled, and dated, and delivered without being asked, you have not understood Chapter IV.
The escalation card	If the three sentences for your own mistake are not written out in full, in advance, you have not understood why they need to be.
Restraint	Eight pages. If you have sent me thirty, you have misunderstood the entire week.

CHAPTER V

Submission

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

Submit correctly.

Eight pages, one per instrument. PDF. Submitted with the completed itinerary exercise from Module 3, before your session.

Then keep them. Revise them after your first house, and after your first crisis, and after your first renovation. In fifteen years these eight pages will be the most valuable professional possession you own, and they will look nothing like the ones you send me this week, and that is exactly as it should be.

HOW TO SUBMIT, AND HOW TO BOOK YOUR SESSION

1. Submit. Everything you produced this week goes into the Submit area of Module 4, inside your student portal. One PDF. Not by email, and not in the chat.
2. Book. The moment your work is uploaded, a Book your session button appears in that same place. Click it and choose your slot with me. Do it straight away, while you are there, because the slots for each week are limited and they are taken in the order they are booked.
3. Leave me time. Book your session for at least two days after your submission, so that I can read your work properly beforehand. That way the session is spent on the correction rather than on the reading, and you get every minute of it.
