HOW TO STUDY THIS MODULE

This is the document you will actually run your next twelve months from.

It is three pages. It is specific to the point of being uncomfortable. And it has dates in it.

A plan without dates is a wish, and I will send it back to you.

CHAPTER I

What you are producing

A plan, not an intention

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

Understand what separates a plan from a hope.

Almost everyone who finishes a programme like this one leaves with an intention. They intend to approach agencies. They intend to build a network. They intend to be strategic about it.

And in March they are exactly where they were in July, and they have concluded that the market is closed.

The difference between the people who get in and the people who do not is almost never talent, and it is almost never luck. It is that one of them had a piece of paper with dates on it.

CHAPTER II

The six sections

Three pages, no more

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

Build each section.

Section	What it contains
1 · My rung, honestly	The role I can be taken on for today, and the evidence. Two sentences. And the role I want in five years, and the three things between them, with a duration on each.
2 · My market	The city or cities. The season I am aiming at. The visa or language question answered honestly, and if it is not answered, the date by which it will be. Choosing one market and being serious about it beats being available everywhere, which reads as being wanted nowhere.
3 · My map	The sixty names, by category, with the gift column filled. This is the engine of the plan and it is the section that will take you the longest.
4 · My agencies	The five, researched. Which one is actually for me. Which three I am on the wrong list for, and what would have to change for that to be different.
5 · My calendar	Twelve weeks, with dates. Three letters a week, on a named day. Two acts of maintenance a week. The ninety-day follow-up round, dated. And what I will be doing in January and in September.
6 · My honest first role	Written down, in advance, so that you recognise it when it appears and do not turn it down out of pride. A season. A cover. A villa. A chalet. Name what you would accept, and name what you would not, and know the difference between a step backwards and a way in.

CHAPTER III

The sentence at the top of page one

And I want you to write it by hand

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

Commit to the one thing that decides the year.

WRITE THIS, AND THEN COMPLETE IT

"I will write three letters every [day], at [hour], for the next twelve weeks, whatever happens, and I will not stop when nobody answers, because I have read what the silence actually means."

Then sign it, and date it. It looks sentimental and it is not. In February, when nothing has happened and it is dark at five o'clock, this sentence is the only thing standing between you and the two hundred people who stopped four months too early.

CHAPTER IV

How it will be judged

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

Understand the standard.

What I am looking forWhat that means

Honesty about the rung

If your plan targets estate manager and your evidence is four years in a hotel, I will say so plainly, and I would rather say it than let the market say it to you in silence for a year.

Dates

Every commitment has a date. "Regularly" is not a date. "Soon" is not a date. Tuesdays at nine, for twelve weeks, is a date.

The gift column

Filled, for all sixty. This is the section that tells me whether you understood the week or merely enjoyed it.

The named first role

Written down before you need it. The people who have not decided this in advance are the people who turn down the chalet season in a moment of pride, and it is the single most expensive moment of their career.

Three pages

If it is fifteen, you have written a document you will never open. Three.

CHAPTER V

Submission

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

Submit correctly.

Three pages, plus the map as an appendix. PDF. Submitted with your three sent letters, as sent, before your session.

And then, on the day after the session, you begin. Not when you feel ready. Not when the CV is perfect, because Week 7 will rebuild the CV anyway and you will always find a reason.

On the day after. Three letters. And again the following week, and the week after that, and you will hear nothing at all for a while, and then one day someone will say your name in a room you are not in.

HOW TO SUBMIT, AND HOW TO BOOK YOUR SESSION

1. Submit. Everything you produced this week goes into the Submit area of Module 4, inside your student portal. One PDF. Not by email, and not in the chat.
2. Book. The moment your work is uploaded, a Book your session button appears in that same place. Click it and choose your slot with me. Do it straight away, while you are there, because the slots for each week are limited and they are taken in the order they are booked.
3. Leave me time. Book your session for at least two days after your submission, so that I can read your work properly beforehand. That way the session is spent on the correction rather than on the reading, and you get every minute of it.
